Happenings in and Around Frank

J. Thompson, of Cranbrook, came to town on Sunday.

J. E. Woods and F. M. Steele, of Pincher Creek, were in town on Tuesday.

W. M. Campbell, of Campbell & Fawcett, came up from Macleod on Tuesday.

W. T. Watson, brother of S. J. Watson, and W. Robson, both of Hosmer, were in town on Monday.

The large sceptic tank at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium, has just been completed and is now in use.

A. A. Muller, general manager of the Canadian Coal Consolidated, went to Macleod on Monday and returned to town on Tuesday.

The Ruthven MacDonald party were well received at the Mason's Hall on Tuesday night and their production of music and talent brought forth the heartiest applause from the audience. Mr. MacDonald and Miss May Crawford have respectively beautiful baritone and soprano voices, while the character readings of Miss Mildred Gordon display no meanness either as an entertainer or.

Pipes have been laid from the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium, with the exception of crossing the C. P. R. track, for which permission was given on Wednesday. A tank to contain five thousand gallons of water is being built about 200 feet up the mountain above the sulphur springs. This tank will receive water from the springs by means of an electrical centrifugal motor, and the water will be carried to the sanatorium by its own gravity.

Dr. and Mrs. Malcolmson and family left on Sunday evening for Edmonton where they will reside in future. Doctor Malcolmson has been a resident of Frank for many years, during which time he has well and faithfully attended to his numerous patients and at all times proving himself to be a physician and surgeon of no mean degree. Many of our citizens are sorry that Dr. Malcolmson has left Frank but their best wishes go out to him. Dr. McKay has charge of the hospital and Dr. Malcolmson's work here.

Calabash En Fete

at Frank

On Wednesday night last the boys of the Calabash Club and friends waited upon A. J. McKinnon and tendered him a jovial surprise on the occasion of his proposed interesting undertaking. Among those present were Messrs. Bennett, Ayres and Dallas, Blairmore; Beaureau, Lesser, Rourke, Hughes, Thompson and Harrington, of the Calabash; and Millard, Scott, Clearhouse, Naylor, Beach, Schurr, Ryan, Ross, Sinclair, Houston, Ryans and McKinnon, of Frank. The programme consisted of voluntary speeches, interspersed with enticing refreshments. The speech of the evening was delivered by H. Murphy, who rose and in a pleasing and benignant manner eulogized the honorable guest of the evening. Among the other speakers were C. J. Tompkins, J. Taylor and S. Lesser, all of whom were much appreciated in their remarks.

The boys tendered Bro. McKinnon the hope for unlimited joy in the event which was to take place on the 26th, in which he would take unto himself a life pension. Slugging and instrumental selections added largely to the pleasures of the evening and the happy gathering was dispersed in the wee sma' hours of Thursday morning.

Coleman Notes

Messrs. T. Haynes and McKim Hunter left Monday morning for Vancouver and other coast points.

J. W. Ashdown, hardware dealer of Winnipeg, who had been to the Pacific coast, paid Coleman a visit last week, returning east.

Rev. Mr. Hull, of Pincher Creek, was in town on Sunday and delivered an eloquent sermon to the Odd Fellows, in St. Alban's church in the afternoon.

The showing put up by the Odd Fellows on Sunday last was indeed creditable to that world-renowned society. Great credit is due Marshall Clark for his efficiency in conducting the parade.

Miss Mary Gate, who has spent several months at Merritt, B. C., is visiting the old home in Coleman. Rumor has it that Miss Gate is very shortly to be a partner in an event that will somewhat lighten the cares of Harry.

An error occurred in the account in last issue re the vocal contest held here, which in justice to the competitors we wish to make correct. First gentlemen's prize was won by W. H. Hayson, second by T. Leyshen and third by A. McMurdo.

The power plant is closed down and kerosene lamps are now being used. Many of our people have been up to a considerable expense on this account, and, yet, this needless expense, to say nothing of the inconvenience, might have all been saved if a little good judgment had been displayed earlier. The words of Isaiah, son of Amoz, "Darkness shall cover the earth and gross darkness, the people, walking pitiably vermed here just now."

Your tongue is coated.
Your breath is foul.
Headaches come and go.
These symptoms show that your stomach is the trouble. To remove the cause is the first thing, and Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will do that. Easy to take and most effective. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Artificial Respiration

(A minor said at Westhoughton that he remembered an occasion when a man was "gassed" at his working place. "Did you use artificial respiration?" he was asked. "Yes," was the reply. "I hit him on the jaw, and as soon as I did that he shouted, 'Hold on!'"

Suppose your Uncle Godfrey, say, should ever chance to swoon away. And would you rouse him from his faint,
And make him quite as fresh as paint.
Indulge in so prolonged harangue;
That's not the way to bring him round;
But seize him by the ears, and bang
His head severely on the ground.

In cases, say, of sudden cramp,
Don't wait until the doctor comes;
But lay the patient down and stamp
Upon his fingers and his thumb.
Procrastination is the thief
Of time; so if for that you're pressed
Asphyxia cases find relief
If kicked with vigor in the chest.

Ice cream and refreshments will be served on the veranda or the inside of the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium every Wednesday and Sunday all day.

Every family and especially those who reside in the country should be provided at all times with a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment. There is nothing when you want it in case of an accident or emergency, that is more excellent in all cases of rheumatism, sprains and bruises. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Happenings in and Around Bellevue

V. Hawkins left for his ranch near Cowley on Tuesday.

T. M. Burnett is away from town for two or three weeks.

Mr. Anderson has returned from the teachers convention reporting splendid meetings, especially with the cousin in Calgary. The school re-opened on Monday.

On Monday there is to be a match between married men and single men, on the football field. Officers have been appointed for the season and a list of same will be given next week.

During the week, Dr. Mackenzie has been urging the householders to fumigate as a preventative to further spread of scarlet fever. The school and church dave attended to this matter.

The scarlet fever epidemic makes haste slowly. One more patient has this week been added to the list, Miss Alice Carter. Mr. Lindsay and Mr. Livett have retired to the jungle until the house is released.

The only competitor who went to the choral exhibition at Coleman last Monday week from Bellevue was V. Hawkins. The judge said that she had not found it possible to classify his voice, it was only heard in cathedrals. However, she gave him fourth place.

Some people are wondering how it is that there are so few victims of fevers. No attempt has been made towards sanitation in spite of efforts directed by agitators for months past. People have to throw their refuse on the ground near the house and the danger is greater in the spring, for the kindly breezes must carry away germs released after the thaw. Sometime Bellevue will put on its beautiful garments, will have its mayor, council, etc. and all within will be clean.

Echoes From Passburg

J. Strachan is going into the livery business here, and has taken over the Passburg livery, near the Passburg hotel.

A bush fire to the north of Burns attracted considerable attention here on Saturday afternoon. It is thought to have spread from a rancher's brush fire.

The strike has considerably marred business here, but nevertheless everyone is making ready for a big rush when a settlement has arrived. Passburg today has taken on a growing appearance and we look forward to a short time hence when our anticipations will be fully realized.

Messrs. Tye and Heywood, blacksmiths and wheelwrights, have started to use the welder and its ring sets another chord of hope in our ears. At present they are doing business in a small shop about 15x25 feet, but propose to build a large place, which when completed will compare with any smithy's store in the Pas.

There is talk of a largely capitalized company proposing to erect a cement plant in Passburg, and already representatives have been looking over the grounds to locate the most suitable site. It is believed by them that an inexhaustible quantity of raw material for the manufacture of cement is laying in wait for the industrial drill and a new industry for Passburg is almost assured.

DIVIDING THE HOUSE

HOW MEMBERS OF COMMONS REGISTER THEIR OPINIONS.

The Vote on a Big Question Usually Comes Late at Night or in the Early Morning, and It Is a Moment of Real Excitement — During the Assembling of the Members a Sing-er is Requested.

Except when members get careless with the epithet "lair," or a scandalous disclosure is in progress, the House of Commons session is rather a dull affair, but there are times when hearts are dancing and nerves are tightly strung. That is when a long debate reaches an end and a moment of dire suspense follows.

The house has sat all day and speaker after speaker has had his say. Six o'clock comes and the speech-making has ended at last. By a standing rule the House then rises to vote, the Prime Minister, of course, voting first. Then come the Ministers in the front row, and then row after row.

The clerk now counts the votes from the lists of names he has scored. Having completed his count, he rises, bows to the Speaker and announces the results — says many, many, many.

Of course, upon the effect of the division being announced the victory party leaps into the air and on it goes after a long debate and it is a great issue the enthusiasm is unbounded, sometimes the members go so far as to make themselves known by waving handkerchiefs. The storm of exultation lasts several minutes and as it subsides order is again restored.

Then comes the adjournment of the House, and if it is to be further debated an adjournment will sit at once.

At half past seven it may be that the House is prepared to stand and then dispose of the matter.

In that case, the main motion will be at once put and the debate over.

There is more cheering, and then the Prime Minister presents the motion that is carried unanimously. It is "that the House do now adjourn."

his table, has before him a large sheet of cardboard, on each side of which is a list of the names of the members alphabetically arranged, similar names being grouped together, and also the members' constituencies, so as to make identification certain.

When those in favor of the amendment vote, the speaker calls upon those against the amendment to rise, the Prime Minister, of course, voting first. Then come the Ministers in the front row, and then row after row.

The clerk now counts the votes from the lists of names he has scored. Having completed his count, he rises, bows to the Speaker and announces the results — says many, many, many.

At eight o'clock the galleries are again filled. The Speaker takes the chair, he calls "Order" and the member who had the floor at six o'clock takes up the thread of his speech where it was broken by the dinner recess.

The night wears on, the big bell in the tower solemnly rings out midnight, but the end is not yet. And the most terrible wearisome portion of an all-night session begins between two o'clock and four. The hours always seem to drag, and sleep seems ever to be beckoning the members to their beds, while all night eating many do sleep, curling up in their chairs with pulsated down over their eyes, or with heads pillow'd at their desks, resting on their desks. But not so in the House of Commons. Nerves are then too tightly strung and interest too keen. The house may be weary, but it is very wide awake.

The night wears away and the gray light of the early spring morning begins to pierce through the beautiful, stain glass windows of the building, and at hand. The Speaker is always ready to put the question should the talk-in cease, and now his opportunity comes. The last word of his resumé of his seat, no one rises to follow him, in an instant the Speaker is on his feet, prepared to put the question.

"The question is now on the order of the day," he says, "Those in favor of it will say 'aye.'"

A short time goes up from the reporter, and when it is at hand he asks those against it to say "no."

There is another shout, this time from the opponents of the question. The last word of the speaker is supposed to decide according to what he said about this. Mr. Broderick would be asked why efforts are not made to develop the egg trade with the continent, and the speaker answers him.

If Mr. White does not stop disturbing the house's egg nests, he will bring in some little internal legislation, and some day —

— we may try your luck at Scotland Yard; and the time occupied so far has been —

"Do you understand chess?" William asked.

Incompetent

Correspondents

We admire very much the firmness of the Lethbridge Herald in combating a most lying and damaging report sent to that paper by some bold person who chooses to make Blairmore his place of abode for the present. That paper gave our last week's first editorial article a prominent place in its issue of Saturday last.

Of course, no reasonable person would blame the newspapers directly for the first publication of such false reports. Considerable care is being taken and great efforts are being made by the dailies to get reliable correspondents in the different towns in which they have a large circulation. In most cases this is splendidly accomplished and the small towns get free advertising, and are consequently helped by being well and fairly reported in the daily papers, in addition to the help given the town by its own weekly publication.

Notwithstanding all this, a pessimist now and then makes an attempt on the journalistic arena; a black sheep gets into the fold; fabulous reports are sent to the dailies; and the Annas club welcomes another member. We are sorry that right in Blairmore there is one such person who with an ultra motive that is very evident, sends out garble reports, attempts to knock the town and to defame its fair name. Such a person should only be given until the next train to seek pastures new and to play his goose feather in communities that would far more appreciate his writings.

Editorial Notes

We rise to ask, what is being done about incorporation?

The appointment by Hon. W. L. M. King of Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon as a member of the conciliation board meets with popular approval.

It has not yet been decided upon to run a free bus during the summer season, from the first bridge at the east end of Blairmore to the new tennis courts.

The burning sun, with wondrous power, shines down upon the mountains. The snow yields to that fiery ball; gives water to all fountains.

A rate war is brewing on the Atlantic. If this materializes, the C. P. R. will be prepared to fight her interest, as she was in 1908-09 when the same condition of things prevailed on the Pacific.

Though the water in the river is increasing very fast, grave consequences will result if you dare to take a bath.

Now, while the strike is on, Blairmore should take advantage of the splendid opportunity of having the place incorporated into a town. No person, who may be opposed to incorporation, has yet taken the trouble to express his views through the press, and only a very few persons have spoken against it in public. Wake up, ye Blairmore people!

Volume 1, No. 1 of the Provincial Standard, a twelve-page weekly newspaper published in Calgary, by The Standard Printing & Publishing Co., with Harley E. Whitebread as general manager, has just reached this office. This new journal is well and ably written, full of live and interesting articles, the ads, of which there are many, are mechanically constructed and very attractive, while the paper used is of a high grade. We wish this new baby succeeds along the troubled waters of journalism.

Fame's Foolish Frenzy

A drake in the District Ledger tries His swelling heart to vent
In a piece of made poetry
With "a snap on us" intent.
He calls for a bottle of Pills
Which he'd be advertising.
And fermentation soon sets in
And set the drake a-rising.

Ope out, ye could give space and hear
This quacking bird a-blaring!
Don't croak a little sooner, egg
Or you'll be a long time singin'!"

It takes a head, to make a rhyme,
That's void of common matter,
And the chap that's missed his calling sets
Dear readers in a clutter.

He feels a kick in warmly blood
Resenting in his veins.
All call him "the Brontie"
"I guess no more remains!"

He's waded upon the glass Elk
Where fish-prey made him slim;
His days were days of uselessness
And all his journeys 'rum.

Bravo! the last breath's leavin' him—
He's got a chance to earn a cent—
And let his neighbors know it.
And let his neighbors know it.

"The Enterprise" he comes to jab,
But fails to make his mark;
His sentences, please of poetry
Is just a blunder foot talk.

Some off-hand, and joyful rise,
The old self-glorify done;
That futile trial to hit
And try another one.

No man succeeds at first attempt—
The whole wise world knows that;
Don't take a pen to write a poem
Till you know what you are at.

universal publicity, for "turning on the light," not only when light is needed, but in every nook and cranny of public or private life, in every corner of the world, is not so much the "privilege" of the modern newspaper as the really serious burden under which it staggers. After all, the newspaper, like the individual, has to meet its own problems and make its own reputation, not by any imagined privilege but by the impression of character, good or bad, which it builds up from day to day.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Mr. Oliver should come to Vancouver and defend the foul system of immigration inspection in this port whereby uniformed aliens are permitted to question Canadians in their own port and by which a uniformed Canadian ruffian in Seattle insults unescorted women coming to Vancouver. "I am pleased to inform you that I have been cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I was a boy I have suffered with dandruff ever since from the itching but from its disagreeable appearance in a scaly form over my head and neck, and the scalp of my clothes all day long. I used various preparations to remove it, to cure dandruff, also soaps and shampoos, but it seemed to me that, instead of removing it, it only increased, the dandruff, the scalp hair began to fall out and the result was that in two months ago scabs developed on my scalp."

"I suffered so from this that as a last resource I applied Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. They had the most gratifying results. I now apply Cuticura Soap and a cake of Cuticura Ointment and a single cake of Cuticura Soap when I wash my hair. The dandruff has gone and my head perfectly clear.

I can assure you that so long as I live I will never use any other soap. It will be used by me and all those near to me. I will also add that I will always use Cuticura Soap and Ointment for the hair. I feel that you clearly know of my cure and if you desire you may send me a testimonial which comes from a sufferer of thirty years standing. WOMEN HIDE SECRET.

London Doctor Declares Drinking Is Fast Growing

Murray Lennie, in the current number of National Health, makes the startling statement that there is far more secret drinking among upper and middle-class women than is generally known. The consumption of whisky, brandy and even wine is believed to be as low as 10 per cent. In industrial centres, this Harley street physician points out, women are drinking more than ever. In London, Glasgow and Dublin, houses may be seen crowded with women, and the Irish capital is notorious for the large number of quite young girls freely indulging in beer.

On the other hand, when a woman of the upper classes becomes addicted to alcohol she nearly always drinks in secret, and soon becomes so expert in掩盖 her secret dissipation that she is often enabled to carry on the practice for years without any of her friends being aware of the fact.

The most cunning secret drinkers appear to be old maids or married women without children. Londoners and more especially Englishmen are expert in covering their expression of the natural emotions of joy and love, are the main causes ascribed by the doctor inducing obesity in the body.

Among the effects of drinking on women he names are loss of will power and self-control and the blurring of the sense of right and wrong. Londoners, Dr. Lennie says, drink, thinking women become creatures of impulse, no longer controlled by judgment. They lie, steal, spend scandalously, stories about the properties of beer to put it mildly, because their power of control has ceased to exist.

HONOR FOR CHURCHILL.

Militant Englishmen Send Medal to the Home Secretary

Some persons have said that the English lack a sense of humor, and it seems to be certain that they do fail to appreciate some brands of humor. But they have their own idea of what is funny.

One of the successful jokes about which London has recently laughed was at the expense of Mr. Churchill, the Home Secretary. He was present on the day that the police had the long struggle with the anarchists in the east end, a struggle that was not formally referred to as the "battle of Houndsditch."

Some of the militant admirers of the Home Secretary have tried to defend him with regard to that particular joke.

It commences with the valor they spell it "valour"—in the desperate fighting at Houndsditch.

The observers of modern warfare declare that the Home Secretary, Mr.

Churchill, showing him as he was peered around a corner to watch the effect of the shots fired by the military at the house in which the anarchists had their headquarters.

The photograph was made when Mr. Churchill did not know a camera was near.

A friend who had great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills gave me a box.

Before they were all used I felt compelled to give them to Mr. Churchill.

"Some years ago I was run down, though not very seriously, and fell as though I was only fitted for life-saver work.

CHAIRMAN APPOINTED

Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon Is Choice of Minister of Labor-Arbitration Board

IS IN SESSION AT LETHBRIDGE.

Dr. Gordon Has Been a Very Successful Chairman on Other Boards

Hon. Mackenzie King, minister of labor, has received a joint telegram from the representatives of the parties concerned in the existing dispute in the coal fields of British Columbia and Alberta, says a press despatch from Ottawa, stating that they had met and agreed on asking him to name the chairman of the board of conciliation and investigation in this matter.

The minister accordingly telegraphed Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon, pastor of St. Andrew's church, Winnipeg, and popularly known as "Ralph Connor," the novelist, appointing him chairman of the board in question. Dr. Gordon has been chosen because he has acted as chairman of one or two boards of conciliation with the very greatest satisfaction to both employers and employees, in particular, that in Winnipeg two years ago at the time of the threatened strike on the street railway, in which he was successful in bringing about an agreement between the parties.

The minister of labor expressed the hope that owing to Dr. Gordon's well-known qualities for fair play and square dealing and his broad and public sympathies, a termination of the strike would be brought about.

On Saturday last Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon accepted the appointment offered him by the minister of labor, and left Winnipeg for Lethbridge on Sunday night, arriving at the latter place early Tuesday morning where he met Colin McLeod and A. J. Carter, the other members of the board.

These should be used without loss of time by medicine which like Chamberlain's Coll. Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy not only cures promptly but produces no unpleasant and safe to take. Sold by dealers everywhere.

W. T. Watson, C. P. R. agent at Hosmer, and brother of S. J. Watson, was in Blairmore on Monday. Mr. Watson has been chosen to represent the Crow's Nest Pass from Kootenay Landing to Medicine Hat, and Calgary at a convention of C. P. R. agents and operators which will be held at

WILL BUILD MORE HOUSES

West Canadian Collieries Will Erect

Twelve More Beautiful Dwellings on Their Property

AT WEST END OF BLAIRMORE.

Most Desirable Place for Residents—Lots of Room for Blairmore to Expand

The West Canadian Collieries have about twenty-five men and several teams at work clearing their property at the west end of Blairmore.

Large trees are being cut down and the stumps blown out, the land cleared, good wide streets made and everything possible is being done by the company to make their new sub-division a most desirable place to live in.

The West Canadian Collieries have already erected ten very pretty, commodious and substantial dwellings on their property. It is an ideal place for a residence and many are anxious to reside there. This is proven by the fact that so eager were those ten dwellings sought after by desirable citizens that as those buildings were completed, people were anxious and ready to move into them.

So great has been the demand for dwellings in the new sub-division, as well as in other parts of Blairmore, that the West Canadian Collieries have decided to build twelve more residences equally as good and as large as those already erected there. Plans and specifications are now being prepared and the advertising for tenders for this work will shortly take place.

Harem Skirt Has Dangerous Rival

The appearance of the "harem skirt" which has created no mild sensation in the trade leading and centres has a rival to come with the present creation of the four-quarter skirt. The rival is a dangerous one and is considered to be an easier walking skirt than the harem. The designer of the four-quarter skirt did not expect to obtain a trouser effect instead of a skirt with a front, it is slit on four sides thus dividing it into four quarters, from which it obtains its name. In a high gait, it is said that the skirt looks very much like a ruptured balloon.—
